Written with the financial support of the Hadewijch was first performed on 1 June 1989

at the Muziektheater, Amsterdam, by Wendy Hill (soprano) and the 'Materie Orkest',
with members of the Netherlands Chamber Choir,
conducted by Reinbert de Leeuw.

Recording: Elektra Nonesuch 79367
as part of the complete De Materie, by the Schönberg Ensemble with the Asko Ensemble,
with members of the Netherlands Chamber Choir
and Susan Narucki (soprano), conducted by Reinbert de Leeuw.

Composer's Note

Hadewijch is the second part of the large four-section work De Materie (Matter) but can also be performed independently.

The text is one of the visions of Hadewijch, a 13th-century Dutch mystic poetess, and expresses her passionate vision, both spiritual and erotic, of union with Him.

The composition is organised to mirror the architectural plan of the cathedral of Reims in France. The intervals of time between the chords of the pianos, tuned percussion and guitars, which ring through the canvas at set points, have the same proportional relationship as the distance in space between the cathedral's pillars.

Anmerkung des Komponisten

Hadewijch ist der zweite Teil des großen vierteiligen Werks De Materie, kann aber auch unabhängig aufgeführt werden.

Der Text ist eine der Visionen Hadewijchs, einer niederländischen Mystikerin und Dichterin des 13. Jahrhunderts, und bringt ihre leidenschaftliche spirituelle und erotische Vorstellung von der Vereinigung mit Gott zum Ausdruck.

Die Komposition ist so angelegt, daß sie den architektonischen Grundriß der Kathedrale von Reims in Frankreich widerspiegelt. Die zeitlichen Intervalle zwischen den Akkorden der Klaviere, des gestimmten Schlagzeugs und der Gitarren, die an vorbestimmten Punkten durch das Gefüge hallen, haben das gleiche proportionale Verhältnis wie der räumliche Abstand zwischen den Säulen der Kathedrale.

Note du compositeur

Hadewijch constitue la deuxième partie de De Materie (La matière), oeuvre étendue en comportant quatre. Elle peut cependant être exécutée indépendamment.

Son texte, tiré des visions de Hadewijch, poétesse mystique néerlandaise du XIII^e siècle, exprime celle passionnée, à la fois spirituelle et érotique, qu'elle eut d'union avec Lui.

La composition de l'oeuvre reflète la structure du plan architectural de la cathédrale de Reims. Les intervalles de temps séparant les accords de piano, de percussions accordées et de guitares qui interviennent dans le contexte à des points précis, présentent le même rapport proportionnel que la distance dans l'espace séparant les piliers de la cathédrale.

Hadewijch

... thereupon I was hopelessly thrown upon my own poor resources.

One early morning at Pentecost, attending matins sung in church, I received a vision. My heart, my veins, and all my body shook and trembled with desire. As so often before, I felt intensely and frightfully touched, and I was afraid that I would not satisfy my Love, but my Love did not allow me to die, to die grieving. Gradually, my passion became so terrible and painful that all my bones seemed to break one by one, and my blood flowed more swiftly than ever. My desire is inexpressible, both words and people fail, and what I could tell about it would be absurd to anyone who never learned Love's effects and who was by Love neglected. This at least I can say: I longed to enjoy my Love to the fullest, to know and taste Him through and through; His human nature united with mine, and mine received in His. I did hope I would have the strength to let myself fall into completeness, so as to prove in turn to be inexhaustible for Him, pure; I alone, would be satisfactorily virtuous in all virtues. Therefore I wished deep inside that He, with His divinity, would elevate me into a unity of our minds, without withholding anything from me. For this gift I prefer above all other gifts I ever chose: to satisfy in unending submission. For this is the most perfect thing: to grow enough to become God with God – because it is endurance and pain, misery and unprecedented sorrow, and one has to let all this come and go without succumbing, and without feeling anything but marvellous love, embraces and kisses. Thus I wished God would be for me, as I for Him.

Chorus

While it became unbearable to me, I saw a giant eagle flying towards me from the altar, and he said to me: "If you desire to be one with God, prepare yourself." I kneeled, and my heart beat in my throat, worshipping His greatness. I know very well that I was not ready for this, and God knows it too, always to my grief and sorrow.

Hadewijch

Then He came from the altar, showing Himself in the shape of a child, such as He looked in the first three years of His life. He turned to me and out of the ciborium He took His body with His right hand, and with His left hand he took a goblet that seemed to come from the altar, but I do not know that for certain. Then He came to me, now in the clothes and in the form of the man He was the day when He first gave us His body, enchanting and beautiful, with a ravishing face, and with the humble attitude of someone who already belongs to another. Then He gave Himself to me in the form of the Sacrament, and afterwards He gave me to drink from the goblet: it seemed and tasted as usual. Then He came very close to me, took me in His arms, and pressed me to His chest. All my limbs felt His, to their total satisfaction as my heart and my humanness longed. I felt truly satisfied and saturated. Also, I had just the power to bear this for a while, but soon, I lost sight of this handsome man, and I saw Him fading and melting away, until I could no longer feel Him next to me, or perceive Him within myself. At that very moment I felt that we were one together, without any difference. All this was real, tastable and tangible – like one really sees and feels the Sacrament, or the way lovers, taking pleasure in seeing and hearing each other, can get lost. After this I stayed one with my Love, melting with Him, until nothing was left of me. I was beside myself, in exaltation, and in my mind I was raised up to a place where many different Hours were shown to me.

The musical score for page 41 features a variety of instruments. The woodwinds (Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Bassoon) and strings (Horn, Trumpet, Trombone, Viola, Violoncello, Double Bass) are mostly in rests. The bassoon (Cb. Cl.) and piano (Pno. 1) have active parts with triplets and accents. The tubas (Tbne. 1.2 and 3.4) play a sustained chord with a crescendo. The synth (Synth. 2) and viola (Vla. 1.2) also have active parts. The percussion (Perc. 2) and soprano solo (Sopr. Solo) are in rests. The score is written in a standard musical notation with various dynamics and articulations.
